RAIN DELAYING STREET BUILDING

Crew Idle Two Days This Week—Concrete Base Nearly Finished to Bridge.

Rainy weather is causing delay in the construction work on East Cumberland avenue. The crew has lost practically two days this week, according to John L. Humbar.

The concrete base is practically finished east of the bridge, the gutting is done and the curbing at the sidewalks and around the parkways is almost completed. Asphalt for surfacing the street has been received here and this work will begin as soon as the concrete has set.

The time required to entirely finish the work in East End will depend upon the condition of the weather, Mr. Humbar stated. Extremely cold or rainy weather may cause considerable delay.

GAME SATURDAY
HERE CANCELLED

Misunderstanding With Harlan Calls off Football Match for the Week

Through a misunderstanding the football game scheduled with Harlan for the local field Saturday, has been canceled and there will be no game this week. The M. H. S. team will play its next game with Big Stone Gap on the field of the latter, Saturday, November 17. There may be another game on the local field before Thanksgiving Day, according to Coach J. T. Kilpatrick.

Some members of the M. H. S. team have colds, and in general, the boys need a rest, the coach stated. All things considered, it was deemed advisable not to have any game by the first team this week.

The M. H. S. second team will go to La Pollette Saturday, where they will play the first team of the latter. From the showing their first team made on the local field it is thought that they will be more evenly matched by the M. H. S. second team.

Former Resident, Here Now, Astounded By City's Growth

J. V. Kent of Birmingham, Ala., who, with his wife has been an interested visitor here during the past week, is a former resident of this city and is well acquainted with Middlesboro's history.

Mr. Kent came to this city on the first day of the twentieth century, January 1, 1900. This was the time when the V. I. C. company first located here and he was head of the steel plant connected with that company. Two years later Mr. Kent moved on to Birmingham, Ala., as head of an important steel plant there, where he has been ever since. He is now on his way to his winter home in Florida and stopped over in Middlesboro for the first visit in 21 years.

"I was astounded at the city's growth," declared Mr. Kent. "Why, you have a real little city here now. When I was last here the only way one could get to the lake, or the brewery, or Harrogate, or any other place, was by riding a pony over a rough and hazardous road. Now you get in a car and are there before you know it."

Mr. Kent continued to praise the new buildings he found here and particularly mentioned the splendid new streets and the new schools that have been built here, and he predicted a bright future for a city with as much energy and progressiveness.

When questioned about the iron industry here, Mr. Kent said that he had not studied conditions here, but that he knew the V. I. C. company had found the iron ore here to be a poorer grade than they had supposed. "You do not need to depend on iron any more," he declared. "This section's wealth now is in its coal. Harlan county, you know, has two of the richest veins of coal in the world."

Pursuing the matter of the coal industry here, Mr. Kent suggested that the terrible waste of coal here should be remedied, probably by the utilization of the by-products and the conversion of some of the coal into coke before it is shipped north.

DESIGNATE ALL FEDERAL ROADS SATURDAY NIGHT

Bureau Is Marking Off Highway System of 185,000 Miles in U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Designation of all roads in the Federal highway system, comprising about 185,000 miles, practically has been completed and approved by the bureau of public roads. The selection of seven per cent of the roads of the nation for future systematic improvement is declared by the government's road officials to have been the largest and most important task assigned to the bureau. Many conferences have been held with highway officials representing adjacent states in the process of correlating the roads of the primary, interstate, highways and many difficult situations have been adjusted.

The fast of the tentative maps showing the systems proposed by the several states has been received by the government and the work of preparing a map of the Federal-aid highway system of the country is well under way. The Federal highway act requires that the bureau of public roads shall issue by November 9 this year a map showing the progress in designating the Federal-aid system and that maps shall be issued thereafter from time to time showing the progress of selection, construction, and reconstruction.

The first map of the system will probably be in two sections, one of the eastern half, the other of the western half of the United States. These maps will be six feet long and four feet wide and will show the primary, or interstate, and secondary, or inter-county, highways selected. In the production of the map every possible use was made of other map-producing agencies of the government to reduce to a minimum the requirements in the way of original drafting.

VISITS HERE AFTER ABSENCE OF MORE THAN 25 YEARS

John B. Sneed, of Gulfport, Miss., arrived in the city this week to visit old friends. Mr. Sneed returns after an absence of twenty-five years. His father, the Rev. H. H. Sneed, was the first rector of St. Mary's Episcopal church and was here about twelve years. Mr. Sneed states that it is hard for him to accommodate himself to the wonderful changes that have taken place in Middlesboro since he left.

SHERIFF FINDS BIG STILL IN BARN LOT

Reputed Owner, Prominent Claiborne County Man, Escapes; Sons are Freed

TAZEWELL, Tenn., Nov. 8.—Sheriff A. J. Greer, assisted by his son, John Greer, Charles Davis and other possemen made a raid Saturday on land on the Powell river, said to be owned by James Welch, holder of considerable property in Claiborne county.

Sheriff Greer had been informed that whiskey was being made in large quantities in the vicinity of the Welch home, and on Friday night, accompanied by his son and Charles Davis, watched the house.

Sheriff Greer said he did not get any definite proof, but observed that the family seemed not to retire, lights being seen moving all night from the house to the barn and to other places on the premises.

The next day the sheriff and possemen went to the Welch home to make a thorough investigation. The sheriff reported that he found an excavation in the barn lot about 12 feet square and seven feet deep, covered with paper roofing on which dirt had been spread with brush on top. A trap door was found, and inside a complete copper still of 75 gallons capacity, with 250 gallons of beer already fermented. A condensing outfit was found also along with the still, showing that it had been used recently, the sheriff said.

Further search revealed two boxes of about 500 gallons capacity each, Sheriff Greer said, lined with metal and waterproof, 300 pounds of sugar also being found. Sheets of copper were said by Sheriff Greer to have been found in the house.

Welch and his two sons escaped, but later the two sons gave themselves up, and the riding party returned to Tazewell bringing the two sons, the still and one vat, after destroying the beer and one of the vats.

The two sons were arraigned before Justice of the Peace F. E. Overton and were acquitted as not being responsible for the still. Welch is being sought in connection with the find.

BUSINESS SESSION

M. E. Church, South, Delegates Hear Interesting Addresses on Program

Routine matters of the Danville District, M. E. Church, South, are being heard by the delegates now in conference at the local church. The business session opened at 9 o'clock this morning and the hearing of reports from pastors and delegates from the various churches which was begun yesterday was continued. This work was a gain taken up at the business session of the conference at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

J. E. Savage spoke in the interest of the Epworth League at the meeting this morning, emphasizing the need of such an organization in each church. Dr. J. L. Clark of Somerset, preached at 11 o'clock this morning, his subject being: "Why We Love God," Psalms 116:1. After the sermon, sacrament of the Lord's Supper was taken by the delegates. Lunch was served at Kenteura hall during the early afternoon.

A large attendance was present last night, when Dr. J. L. Hulse delivered his powerful sermon on "The Greatness of Intercession." Dr. Hulse, editor of the Central Methodist, is one of the prominent delegates attending the conference.

Mrs. C. K. Brosheer and Mrs. D. G. Hinks entertained the women visitors and delegates and local women of the church with a tea at the home of the former between four and five o'clock this afternoon.

MOST GARAGES TO COLLECT GAS TAX

One Cent a Gallon to Be Levied for Repairing Barbourville-Corbin Road

Practically all local garages have agreed to collect one cent per gallon to provide a fund which will be used to keep the Barbourville-Corbin road in repair. All of the garage owners who have been consulted in the matter readily agreed to make the extra charge. The matter will be taken up with all the other garage men. Other towns affected by the road are also adopting the plan.

A systematic manner of collecting the voluntary tax has been worked out. The local banks will be furnished with information by the wholesale gasoline companies regarding the quantity of oil sold local retailers each week. This check will be applied against the amount sold by each and the money collected.

Garages which have adopted the measure are charging twenty-one cents per gallon for gas now. Placards stating the purpose for which the tax is collected have been placed in garages making the extra charge.

DEMOCRATS CLAIM
58,000 MAJORITY

Biggest Party Victory Since 1912—Only Four Counties are Still Unreported

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 8.—Democratic State headquarters here today reported that a tabulation from 116 of the 120 counties in the Tuesday election shows Fields leading Dawson by 58,000. The missing counties are Letcher, Leslie, Owsley and Elliott. They stated that they believed the missing counties will cut the vote not to exceed 200. This is the largest Democratic majority since 1912, when James B. McCreary was elected Governor. Estill county went democratic, according to this tabulation, the first time in 40 years. It gave Fields a majority of 175.

That Mattered Not

The junior partner was interviewing a very pretty girl who had applied for a position. The senior partner came in, and after inspecting the vision, called his partner aside and whispered, "I'd hire her."

"I have," replied the junior partner. "Well, can she take dictation?" asked the elder member of the firm.

"Well, find that out later," replied the junior partner. "I didn't want any obstacles to crop up."—Louisville Courier Journal.

The men, both of whom were about 25 years old, quarreled over a poker game. Hoskins was taken from Ferndale, where the shooting occurred, to the Wilson hospital in Pineville, but he died soon after he reached there. He was shot through the stomach. Dawson is in the county jail at Pineville, awaiting the action of the grand jury now in session there.

According to Will Henderson, of Ferndale, the only witness in the case Dawson and Hoskins quarreled over a poker game in which $18 was involved. Henderson said he separated them and leaving them together, started for his home. He said he had been gone only a minute and was not quite to the foot of the hill when he heard the shooting.

They propose to get this road in good condition as soon as possible so that travelers may pass over it all winter. A THOUGHT Give more attention to the adversary to speak reproachfully.—Tim. 5:11.

When a man feel the reprehension of a friend occasioned by his own heart, he is easily heated into resentment.—Dr. Johnson.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR TIMES AHEAD

The business outlook is good, according to Messrs. L. Livermore, known in Wall Street as the largest individual stock market operator. Livermore says:

"During the past few years the people of our country have become accustomed to living on a higher standard than heretofore, and they are not going to be dissatisfied to live any other way in the future. The money they spend must necessarily mean a larger purchasing power, and that purchasing power is bound to keep business going at a good volume."

Livermore is right. Thrift is the saving virtue of a fine thing. But spending makes prosperity. For instance, people have become accustomed to buying autos. The buying makes jobs for the army of people engaged in manufacturing the cars.

In turn, these car makers spend the money they receive, thus keeping busy the employees in other industries. The more we spend for legitimate purposes of production, the more jobs there are—and the more prosperity to be divided among all of us.

Common sense, of course, shows us that when a man makes more and spends more, he also should save more.

We can't have luxuries and necessities unless we create them. It's plain that we have to produce more if we want to have more. Larger production is the price of higher standard of living. And the standard of living is flexible—it moves up or down, according as we produce more commodities or not.

Humanity can't consume more than it produces. The ravens don't bring manna in our generation.

DUMPING RUBBISH ON OUR HIGHWAYS

In these days of enthusiasm over good roads, of political campaigns for a primary system, of individual and collective subscriptions for keeping the road in repair, and of general bids for tourist favor, in the towns along the several routes to the south from the middle-west, one thing is being overlooked in this section, and that is the keeping in condition of the sides, as well as the middle of the road.

What tourist is there who, attracted by the marvelous scenery of the mountains, is not repelled by the heaps of the cans along the roads and in vacant spaces? Who can fully enjoy the glories of the autumn colorings in foliage with garbage heaps confronting them on every turn?

We are trying to bring thousands of persons, travelers from the middle-west to Florida, and home in the evening, along the route from Cincinnati to Lexington, through here, Cumberland Gap, Knoxville, Asheville and on south. Yet the road from here to Cumberland Gap, one of the most beautiful most famous and most fascinating in the United States, is strewn with the cans, garbage and rubbish, as if it were the dumping ground for Middlesboro and vicinity.

It is not enough for us to keep our own streets in such a deplorable condition as they are with dirt papers and rubbish of every description always scattered over them, particularly in the business section. We must extend our generosity to the outlying districts and sweep them with every conceivable kind of refuse, until the roadside is a continuous litter.

The people who are working so earnestly, to make this road a haven for the traveler who go south, should not forget this matter. They should provide some way to put a stop to this wholesale dumping and keep the beautiful road, in this section, cleared.

USE OF MIGRATORY BIRDS AS FOOD FARRIED BY LAW

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. (Hotel, restaurants, and other eating places may not serve wild ducks, geese, or other migratory birds for food, the Department of Agriculture announced. The migratory bird treaty act and regulations make it unlawful to buy or sell such birds, except under proper permits for scientific or propagating purposes.)

Migratory water fowl raised in captivity under proper federal and state permits may be bought and sold and served in hotel and restaurants, but this does not apply to wild birds. The serving of wild birds with meals in hotels, restaurants and other places is unlawful if a price is charged for the meal, and the law cannot be evaded under a pretense that no charge is being made for the wild birds, the department states.

PARIS DRUGSTORE WRECKED BY MOTOR CARS 10 TIMES

Associated Press.
PARIS, Nov. 10. There is a corner drugstore close to the terminus of the Northern Railroad which possesses an irresistible attraction for motor-driven vehicles. Placed just between the meeting point of two rapidly descending streets, it has been wrecked forty times in the last thirteen years. Three months ago a motorcyclist drove through its glass front and died on the spot. A few days later a motor lorry crashed through into the middle of the shop, without causing any fatalities. Recently a taxicab went right through the store, breaking the large red-colored plates that still mark a drugstore in France, overturning the counter, and doing about $1,500 worth of damage to the stock.

The proprietor of the store complains that these repeated mishaps are ruining his business, his shop is forever under repair, and customers go elsewhere.

Lawyer Got an Earful

"And what time did the robbery take place?" asked the lawyer. "I think," began the witness, "I don't care what you think, put in the attorney, 'we want to know what you know.'"

"Then," rejoined the witness, "I might as well get down off the stand. I can't talk without thinking. I'm no lawyer."—Success.

Reflected in Signs

The excited citizen rushed into the little bank and slipped a $20 bill down upon the cashier's window ledge. "Give me two cases," he cried. "What?" asked the astonished cashier. "What? Two cases of what?" "Anything. I'll drink whatever it is. I saw a sign outside that said 4 per cent.—Wayside Tales.

Berton Braley's Poem

RETAIN YOUR CLOTHING

The man who keeps his shirt on Is the fellow who is wise, He'll get along for certain Better far than basty guys. When there's any trouble brewing He'll be safer than the wight Who gets red of eye and staving And who's spoiling for a fight.

The man who keeps his shirt on May, at seasons, have to scrap, There are things you can't accept on Some occasions; but the chap Who, though angry, keeps his balance And is calm throughout the fray, Can use all his fighting talents In the most effective way.

And in ordinary cases

And the steady run of life, He who keeps his temper faces Very little storm or strife; And I venture to assert on Most occasions which I note, That the man who keeps his shirt on seldom has to shed his coat!

SALESMAN SAM—

Adventures of the Twins

By Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 12—MRS. CLUCK GOES TO THE STORE

"Hello," called Nancy and Nick happily. "We'll tell the Fairy Queen all about you."

Mrs. Cardinal Bird flew out of the apple tree and Misses Cuckoo Bird flew after him, her wings flashing like red and green in the sunlight.

Next came the Twins, not flying, but walking faster than any little boy or girl ever walked before, in their merry little shoes.

They were on their way to an older tree in Dixie Land where Misses Warbler was sitting on her nest. Misses Warbler was as cross as Twisted Dixie because somebody had laid an extra egg in her nest and expected her to hatch it. She was telling people that Misses Cuckoo had done it.

So now they were on their way to Misses Warbler's nest to find out all about it.

The mischievous Misses Warbler saw them she began to call out, "Here she comes! Here comes that lazy Misses Cuckoo, who won't build her own nest and who expects other people to bring up her children! Have you anything to say for yourself, Misses Cuckoo?"

"I've been trying to say something all along," said gentle Misses Cuckoo, "but everybody talks so much. I have—I had a chance. You're mistaken. I can build my own nest! I know people say that I don't, but I do. I never laid an egg in anybody else's nest in my life. I have a cousin over in Europe (who is a distance to the family) and she does it. But American cacklers are very different. We only try to be perfect and eat up as many eggs as we can. And we sing to make people happy."

"Then if you have a nest, why are you on the way?" asked Misses Warbler. "Passing Show, London."

America's Favorite Songs

Julia Ward Howe, daughter of a New York banker, wrote "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." The poem was printed in the Atlantic Monthly and Mrs. Howe got the princely sum of $5 for it.

At the beginning of the Civil War the need was deeply felt for a new national hymn to meet new and exciting conditions—one that would be the great peace song, yet the war song of the nation. At the request of many prominent Union men, a committee was appointed to select such a hymn. The committee waited three months and found none of the $200 contributions suitable. The committee had posted prizes of $25 each for poetry and music.

Mrs. Howe was ready to meet the emergency. She was a literary prodigy from childhood. In December, 1862, she and her husband visited Washington. While there she saw the homeward march of some troops and began to sing some army songs in which the party joined. One of the songs was "John Brown, Dr. Clarke. Our God is marching on."

Mrs. Howe's pastor, asked her to write words worthy of the stirring tune.

And she did—in the gray light of the next day's dawn. She died Oct. 17, 1970, with the memory of Abraham Lincoln urging a vast audience in Washington to "sing it again."

While God is marching on.

Christ was born across the sea, With a glory in His bosom, That transfigures you and me; As He died to make men holy, Let us die to make men free, While God is marching on.

I hope, dear little Marquise, that you are not tired of my conjectures over the baby for I want to add just one more picture that stamped itself on my mind before Sydney Carton left for home.

Re-stored with us three days, I have never seen a man so appreciative of real home life as he. I do not think there was a thing in my drawing-room or dining-room, a bit of furniture in his bed-room or the library, that he did not find some appropriate remark with which to show me that he knew exactly its worth and its utilitarian as well as ornamental value.

"Good Lord, Syd! One would think you were taking an inventory of Leslie's household fittings to hear you talk. You have called my attention to things that I never saw before."

"That's right, Jack. I was glad to say to him. You have taught me that it isn't one's husband who always sees and appreciates one's taste and the perfection of one's tastes and tastes."

"Do one's household gods have to be perfect, Leslie?" asked Sydney. "It seems to me just at present as though I had been in houses where worship and adoration were given to very useful and very ugly idols."

"Such as?" interrupted Jack. "Of course, you wouldn't have me say yourself," smiled Sydney.

"I wouldn't have you say it either, Sydney," said I, laying my hand on Jack's arm fondly. "I think he makes a very splendid head of the house as well as father of the child he is now going to christen with the historical name of John Alden Prescott."

Jack giggled as though something was pricking him all over as a hair shirt might have done.

"According to mother, Leslie, all my ancestors will be spending the few moments, in which the rector is sprinkling water and blessings on the unconscious face of little Jack, in turning over in their graves. She calls him a 'nameless brat,' you know, Syd."

At this I stretched up my baby and started out. I could not speak. It seemed to me that this ceremony would indubitably knit the bonds between my baby and me in a way that no one ever could break them.

I felt that even Jack had a vague appreciation of this for as I held the child as proxy for Alice, his arm stole about me and he whispered, "Little mother, Leslie, you make me very very happy."

Make your Christmas present early and avoid the shopping.

Leisure

What is life if, full of care,
We have no time to stand and stare?

No time to see, when woods are pass,
Where squirrels hide their nuts in grass;

No time to see, in broad daylight,
Streams full of stars, like skies at night;

No time to turn at Beauty's glance,
And watch her feet, how they can dance;

No time to wait till her mouth can
Enrich that smile, her eyes began;

A poor life this, if full of care,
We have no time to stand and stare.

Middlesboro Choral Club Rehearsal

The regular weekly rehearsal of the Middlesboro Choral Club will be held tonight, Thursday, at 7:30 o'clock in the Sunday school room of the First Presbyterian church under the direction of Professor H. R. Carr of Knoxville. The club has a definite objective in view that is the giving of a concert in a short time, and all members are urged to be present at all rehearsals so as to make the public performance one to be proud of.

Vegetables

The vegetables of late autumn are preferable to canned summer ones or shipped-out-of-season delicacies. Parsnips and carrots, rutabagas and squash add color and beauty to the dinner table.

You will enjoy serving parsnip fritters and the guests will enjoy eating them.

Carrot straws are almost too good to be true.

Squash croquettes are different but "mummy."

And sweet potato apples will go right to the spot.

Parsnip Fritters

Six parsnips, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon sugar, 3 tablespoons butter, cracker crumbs, 1 egg.

Boil parsnips in slightly salted boiling water until tender. Plunge into cold water and slip skins. Mash and season with salt, pepper, sugar and butter. Make into small flat cakes. Roll in cracker crumbs, dip in egg slightly beaten with two tablespoons cold water, roll again in crumbs and fry in a spider in butter and bacon fat until a delicate brown.

Carrot Straws

Four medium-sized carrots, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 cup cream, 1 lemon, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons minced fresh mint leaves, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 egg.

Wash and scrape carrots. Cut in narrow strips. Drop into boiling salted water and boil 15 minutes. Drain and put in top of double boiler. Add butter, sugar, cream, grated rind and juice of lemon and mint leaves. Cook until soft. Beat egg slightly and stir into mixture as it is removed from hot water.

Squash Croquettes

Cut squash in halves and scrape out seed. Bake. Scoop out of shell and mash. There should be two cups. Add one cup milk, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar, two tablespoons nut meats coarsely chopped and one-half teaspoon paprika. The eggs should be well beaten. If too moist to handle add fine cracker crumbs and let stand until firm. Shape into balls, roll in cracker crumbs, dip in egg slightly beaten with two tablespoons water, roll again in crumbs and fry in deep hot fat. Drain on brown paper.

Sweet Potato Apples

Six sweet potatoes, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons cider or grape juice, 10 cloves.

Wash and cook sweet potatoes until tender. Remove skins and mash with butter, salt and pepper. Cool, form into balls and stick a clove in opposite ends. Melt sugar in an iron spider, add boiling water, lemon juice, cider or grape juice and cook until a smooth sirup is formed. The melted sugar will lump when the water is added, but these lumps will dissolve. Arrange apples in a baking dish, pour over sirup and bake in a moderate oven until the sirup is thick and the apples glazed and a delicate brown. Serve in the baking dish.

Christmas Gifts

TRY THIS DOLL BAG

First make a ball of cotton, then wind white wool around it, making a ball about 2 1/2 inches in diameter. Wind the wool all one way, holding the ball as if it were an axis. With henna lechard yarn make the wig.

Next wind two pieces of wire about four inches long for the feet. Then crochet pantlets about two inches square. Then make a bag of rose-colored sateen seven inches square, and sew the legs to this.

For the dress use a piece of rose sateen about 18 inches by 8 inches. Sew up the side seams and put in a hem, embroidering it in white wool.

Sew the dress to the bag at the top, being sure to leave a half inch heading for the arms to pull through. Run the drawstring through the sleeves, using hands of white wool to finish the drawstring. Make a loop of henna wool by which the bag may be carried.

This may be used for a sewing bag, or a party bag if you prefer.

COOLIDGE PUTS DRY LAW FIGHT UP TO THE STATES

President's Replies to Governor Pinchot's Arraignment—Can't Take Personal Charge of Matter.

Washington.—President Coolidge let it be known that he had no idea of making charge personally of dry law enforcement, and that the various states will be called upon to bear their share of the burden.

This was the administration's reply to Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, who at the citizenship conference just closed charged the federal government with responsibility for laxity in enforcement and said that there is an "emergency" which justifies the President's taking the wheel. Mr. Coolidge called into conference Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Assistant Secretary Moss and Collector of Revenue Glavin. "These three are responsible for the functions of the prohibition unit."

"The states will be called upon to look after the hip-pocket cases. The federal government will check leaks of alcohol and withdrawals and stop smuggling. This is the program in a nutshell," a spokesman said.

It was emphasized at the White House that the President could not take personal charge of dry law enforcement under the law. A special bureau for the purpose is accountable to the collector of revenue and in turn, through the secretary of the treasury, to the President. It was stated. It was pointed out that the dry act gives the states concurrent powers with the federal government, but that instead of employing this power, the majority have shifted the burden to the United States.

Eleven Men Arrested in N. Y. for Giant Beer Bribery Plot

New York.—Eleven men were arrested here when agents of two branches of the federal government, acting on orders from Prohibition Commissioner Haynes and United States District Attorney William Hayward, smashed an alleged $800,000 bribery plot to permit beer running from New Jersey to this city. Nine of the prisoners were taken when the agents suddenly swept down upon a suite of rooms in the Hotel Pennsylvania. They included four New Jersey brewers, two dealers in alcohol, a prohibition agent, a warehouseman, and J. Harry Foley, New Jersey state superintendent of weights and measures.

SAYS COLLEGE GIRL MAKES REAL WIFE

Find Few of Her Kind Rushing to the Divorce Court, Maintains Woman Educator

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 8.—The college girl may balk on the word "obey" in the marriage ceremony, but when she says "I will" she means it.

In other words, if all parents would send their daughters to college, the divorce lawyers would have to take in their shingles.

A college education as a panacea for the divorce evil is advocated by Mrs. Lue W. St. Clair Moss, president emerita of Christian College, here and the first woman to be nominated for Congress from Missouri. She was defeated in the recent congressional campaign.

One reason the college girl steers clear of the divorce court, Mrs. Moss believes is because her marriage is the "result of deep affection rather than her sense of values developed. She usually is not guided so largely by her emotions and she isn't ready to jump (than half-baked impulse."

"That is the kind of marriage that lasts," says Mrs. Moss. "A college girl into matrimony with every sleek-like Lothario who comes along."

She Co-operates

A second reason why a college woman makes a lasting wife is because she has learned discipline, Mrs. Moss believes.

"Divorce," she says, "shows a lack of discipline. The contending parties have not learned how to co-operate or to put aside personal desires for their common good.

"The girl who goes to college and practices of its discipline seldom, if ever, gets into the divorce court."

Mrs. Moss denies emphatically that college women are contributing to the country's quota of old maids.

"College girls are as much interested in marriage as are other girls," she says. "And my observations are based on contact with more than 5000 of them."

Home and Career

"College girls are not choosing between a home and a career—they are choosing both."

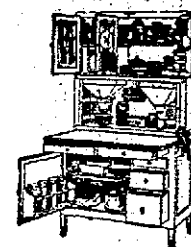

All the talk about the home going to pieces when the wife enters upon a career is stuff and nonsense, she remarks.

"I hold a girl is a better wife and mother who has proved herself capable of self-support and independence," she says.

"All sorts of data may be furnished to demonstrate that marriage is becoming an obsolete institution, but it continues to be and always will be the supreme factor in a woman's life—and in a man's, too, for that matter."

AMERICAN SONGBIRDS RIVAL IMPORTED VARIETY IN WINNING THE PRINCIPAL GRAND OPERA ROLE

By GEORGE BRINT

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—The contest of songbirds for the principal grand opera role in the new production of "The Song of the Birds" at the Metropolitan Opera House, which was held in the city of Chicago, has resulted in a victory for the American variety.

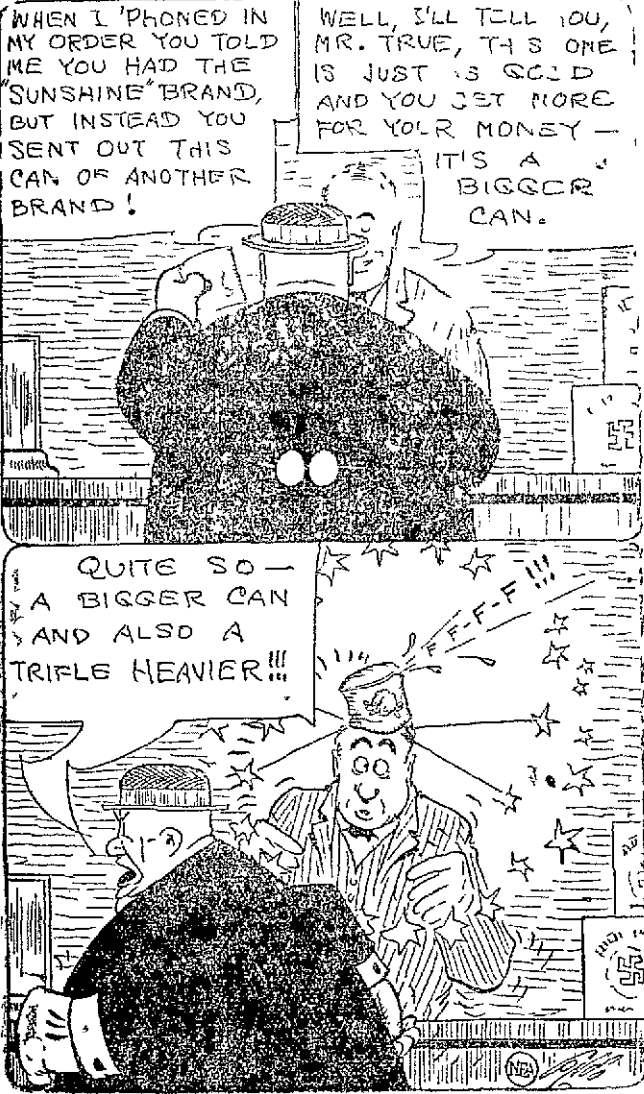

Homegrown Songbirds

Not only the songbirds, but also the composers of the music for the production, have been chosen from the ranks of the American variety.

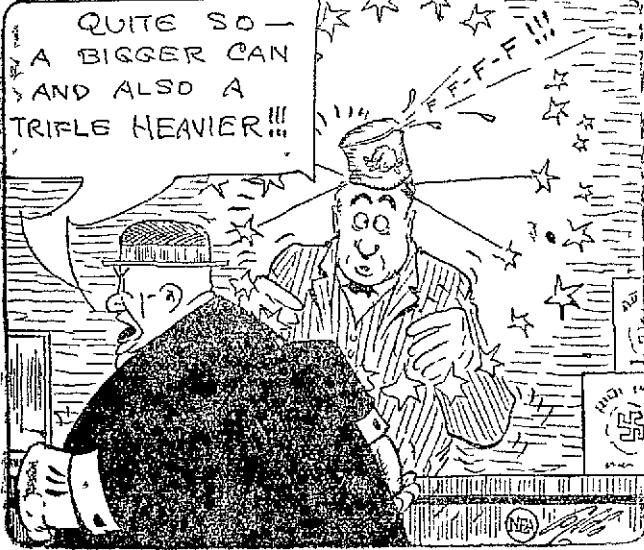

The history of the songbirds in the American variety is a long one, and it is a record of which the American variety can be justly proud.

It is a record of which the American variety can be justly proud, and it is a record of which the American variety can be justly proud.

Favorite Plays OF FAMOUS COACHES

Picking my favorite play is a difficult task in the modern game of proper conditions would be football.

They brought Zeke and My Own to London to race for the championship of the three-year-olds. Another starter in the race was In Memoriam, Kentucky bred. Except in the south, not much attention was paid to In Memoriam. Even the smart layers at the track offered big odds against him. The race was between Zeke and My Own. The others were there just to "fill in." Well, you know what happened. In Memoriam raced both Zeke and My Own into the ground and came out to win by six full lengths.

Under others, the best cheerleaders that Kentucky has ever had, and S. A. (Daddy) the rest of a field, general and his Boles, athletic director at the University. Often poor judgment in the selection of a play when much is at stake moves to be the turning point in the game.

When Notre Dame needs only a short distance in order to retain possession of the ball, here is the play that I always like to hear the signal for:

The right end charges the defensive tackle out.

The right tackle and right guard charge the defensive guard in.

The left end checks tackle and through for secondary.

Back No. 1 takes defensive end, back No. 2 helps on defensive tackle, back No. 3 through hole for secondary.

Back No. 4 receives ball on direct pass and drives through hole. This play is invariably good for from two to four yards.

NUKY CIRCLE ODD U. OF K. FEATURE

Started in 1920 for Promotion of Athletic Spirit in School

The Saky circle, the most unique organization of the campus of the University of Kentucky, is, at the same time, one of the most useful and requires more honest efforts and hard work for its members.

The circle was started in 1920 by Bryan Jingo and Fred Tinkle, two of circle chroniclers.

the best cheerleaders that Kentucky has ever had, and S. A. (Daddy) the rest of a field, general and his Boles, athletic director at the University. Often poor judgment in the selection of a play when much is at stake moves to be the turning point in the game.

Starting in 1920 with twenty-five male members, the circle yielded to the equal suffrage movement that swept the country and the next fall admitted five female members. At present the circle consists of twenty men and eight fair co-eds.

The name Saky comes from the abbreviation of State University of Kentucky. The members are chosen each year for their activity on the campus and their interest in collegiate activities.

The Saky circle has proved a great boon on the campus in fostering spirit, leading cheers at games, teaching bells to freshmen and in brief, doing everything in their power to bring about every Kentuckian's dream of a greater Kentucky. They have been successful is plainly evident in the magnificent spirit and gallant sportsmanship that is shown by Kentucky men and women in backing their team and school whether at home or abroad.

Since the organization and instant success of the Saky circle, many other Universities have inaugurated similar movements which have proved highly effective. The University of Tennessee Beavers work along the same lines as the Saky circle.

There's a Difference. Ah, well, the modern girl may know less about making bread, but she knows more about making dough.—San Francisco Jingo and Fred Tinkle, two of circle chroniclers.

Your Health

Muscle Building

We are able to control the voluntary muscles, like the biceps, the large muscles of the foot upper arm or that in the lower leg or calf. The muscles of the shoulders, back and neck, as well as certain ones of the face and jaw are also under our control to a great extent.

Involuntary muscles control the action of the heart, stomach and diaphragm. Over these we have no control or direct action. We can only supply them with blood and nerve force through proper hygienic living and the right kinds of food.

In building up muscle tissue you have to consider two principal actions. First, supplying the energy through proper food; and, second, in the proper exercising or use of muscles, to produce a healthy growth of tissue. Without a proper amount of use, your muscles will become flabby and almost useless.

The carbohydrates (starch and sugar) form a substance in the body called glucose. This is used up by the contracting muscles. The fat foods are also muscle producers.

In exercising and stimulating your muscles for growth and strength, you must use caution. Never severely tire or strain your muscles to the limit. When you feel the "pull" at the bulging part of a muscle you know it is growing—so to speak.

The muscle-fiber, nerve-fiber, and nerve-cell form a connecting link. Should a nerve be injured or crushed between the muscle and the spinal nerve-cell from which its fibers come, or if the nerve-cells are destroyed by disease, the muscle will become a useless mass of connective tissue.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith have come to housekeeping in Rose Hill now.

Colmar Notes.

People here seemed to have awakened the old election spirit here Tuesday, for in spite of the mud and rain, a number were out to vote. A great deal of excitement was shown in the outcome. Dawson free taxis ran all day, bearing signs "We take you there and bring you back."

The Rev. M. L. Chambers of Rockwood, Tenn., a Baptist minister, has been visiting in Colmar for the past week. He has been the guest of his son-in-law, W. L. Knowles, who is in charge of the Colmar school.

Charles Lee, veteran barber, will open for business in his shop near the opera house soon.

The entertainment given by the school Halloween night was successfully carried out and every one seemed to enjoy it.

E. L. Peace, who has been confined to his bed for some time, is reported somewhat improved.

Conda Gentry, clerk of the Southern Mining Co., was entertained Sunday night by Miss Lucy Robbins.

Miss Gentry gave a chicken dinner Sunday in honor of the Rev. M. L. Chambers of Rockwood, Tenn.

Mrs. Zanna Erwin of Harrogate was in town yesterday.

POWELL VALLEY

Like Powell, of Middlesboro, who died of heart failure, was buried near Arthur last Sunday. A large crowd was at the funeral and he had many friends and relatives in Claiborne county who will mourn his loss.

Uncle George Vanisher, an old and well-known citizen of the valley, died at about 11:30 o'clock Saturday night. He had been suffering from tuberculosis for a long time. The Rev. Luke Sivills conducted the funeral services.

The Halloween party at P. V. H. S. was a social and financial success. There were a number of beautifully decorated booths which were attractive features. The occasion was one which brought weird, creepy feelings to those present. A large crowd attended.

Notwithstanding the downpour of rain Saturday evening, the entertainment at Red Hill drew a large crowd and proceeds of the sale amounted to over seventeen dollars.

The Parent-Teachers meeting at the Red Hill school house Friday afternoon was a pronounced success. Twenty-six members were added to the association. The usual business was transacted. The school-house is in need of a bell and the proposition of buying one has been discussed by members of the association. At the meeting they spoke enthusiastically of the work which has been gratifying to the patrons and the neighborhood in general. Sandwiches and other refreshments were served. The association meets once each month at Red Hill. Various methods are used to raise money for refreshments. Pleasing programs are rendered by the children. There has not been an objection or an unkind criticism of the school heard this term.

The Rose-Shary saw mill company has recently purchased a large sawmill near Lawrence and is being moved to their place of business. They are doing an extensive lumber business.

Miss Joe Bruce, accompanied by Prof. Rogers and Miss Ruby Harris, visited her aunt at Morristown, Tenn., last week. They motored from Knoxville where they attended the teachers' association and while at Morristown were honored by many social functions.

RECRUITING OFFICE FINDS MANY ILLITERATES HERE

The recruiting office tells the tale of illiteracy in the state. It is here that men from the mountains—sturdy youths who are unable to read or write—drift in and apply for jobs with Uncle Sam. Such men are indigestible for service, of course, literacy being of the necessary qualifications for military service.

Approximately twenty per cent of the men who apply at the recruiting office are unable to read or write, according to information received from the local recruiting office, and most of these men are in prime physical condition and have natural intelligence.

The number of illiterates in the mountain section is noticeably greater than in the large cities, the reason apparently being the lack of proper educational facilities in the rural mountain districts.

The majority of men applying for military service here are not residents of Middlesboro nor Bell county.

A. F. OF L. DUMPS WILLIAM F. DUNNE OVERBOARD

Union Labor Convention Expels Red Editor as Delegate by Vote of 27,838 to 130.

Portland, Ore.—William F. Dunne, Communist leader from the Silver Bow labor council of Butte, Mont., was expelled from the convention of the American Federation of Labor after one of the most dramatic debates heard in that forum for years.

Dunne's strength only mustered six votes on the final roll call. The record vote as announced was 27,838 to 130, but this refers to blocks of votes, not individuals. There were about fifty delegates absent or not voting in the total of 387 present.

It was not necessary for the so-called "Gompers machine" to do any steam rolling. The delegates themselves took care of Dunne.

When the vote was announced President Gompers announced in his most impressive manner:

"Delegate Dunne stands impeached and his credentials as a member of this convention are revoked. Mr. Dunne will please retire from the hall."

The impeachment of Dunne was made by William Green, secretary of the United Mine Workers. In the course of a four hour discussion of the Red problem and its menacing import to the trade union movement.

LYDD GEORGE IN FINAL U. S. PLEA

Great Britain's War Premier Says America Must Help.

CIVILIZATION IS NEAR DOOM

New York.—David Lloyd George, Great Britain's magnetic little wartime premier, brought his American tour to a magnificent climax in a farewell address at the Metropolitan opera house. Before a selected audience, which gave him rapt attention and frequent applause, he gave this as his parting message to America:

"Civilization is doomed and within the present generation—unless the United States and Great Britain, acting in concert and close co-operation, go to the rescue of torn and nerve-racked Europe."

Irish Start a Riot.

While scenes inside the Metropolitan were orderly and sympathetic in every way, there were serious disturbances outside when 250 Irish of the old De Valera clique attempted to march with banners deriding Lloyd George and the British empire.

Mr. Lloyd George got glimpses of the riot when he arrived and again when he left the opera house, but he remained unruffled and seemed pleased when the pandits of the crowd drowned out the jeers of the Irish.

The hostile demonstration was timed to start with Lloyd George's approach. A group of some 250 Irish attempted to march past police cordons with banners praising De Valera and denouncing Lloyd George in particular and the British government in general.

Woman Leads Disturbance.

A woman was at the head of the marchers. She refused to obey orders of the police to turn back. A clash resulted. One woman brought her banner down on the head of a policeman. Several other women and numerous men began to pummel the policeman. Some struck with walking sticks. The caps of numerous policemen were knocked off. But a cool-headed sergeant counseled his men, and ordered them to drive the marchers back off Broadway.

COAL PRICES WON'T SOAR THIS WINTER

Knoxville Assures Consumers Here Ample Supply Will Provide All Needs

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 8.—Knoxville consumers will not be confronted with soaring coal prices this winter.

The price of domestic coal is $8.50 per ton and is very likely to stay that way. No increase in prices is looked for this winter unless some extraordinary change in conditions occur.

This is the word of B. B. Comer, in charge of the retail business of the Southern Coal and Coke Co. A. W. Young, prominently identified with wholesale coal interests, also reveals that an increase in price is not anticipated this winter.

So the price in prospect for the winter is $8.50 on domestic coal. The price of steam coal is $4.50. That, too, is expected to go through the winter without material change.

"Herein is contained the reason why coal prices are not expected to jump this winter. We are in the midst of a fall. The difference in apparent. During the spring we read that loading of railroad cars reached a peak. A record for shipments was made. This same condition I am sure, will return."

Mr. Comer stated also that factories are not demanding coal like they did a few months ago. "That is the only way I see to explain it," he said. "Coal dealers are not making the margins this year they did last."

Mines in the coal producing regions are reported to be operating but two days a week because of the surplus of coal out of the ground. An ample supply of railway cars is reported to handle the product. This is exactly the reverse of last winter, when miners said that lack of delivery facilities was the chief reason for high prices of domestic coal. What the yards could get with a car shortage had to be sold high in order to meet the overhead expenses and make a legitimate margin for the dealers. Even then the profit margins meted almost to the vanishing points it was claimed.
